THE PRESIDENT'S CHARGE OF BRIENRY. Mr. Van Buien, who is called by the tories the President of Democracy, the great champion of the People, has accused his masters; and more especially these of the State of New York, of being hought by the Banks!! and the Globe, followare no Banks; and the New York Express, by who have known him for the past thirty years a comparison of the official result in those conn. pure and unsuited. tice with the rest of the State, demonstrates that | We are surry that our limits will not enable --- JOBN CTCALHOUNT

We published just week an extract from the Salisbury, N. C. Wutchman, in which Mr. Calhoun is charged with denouncing the subtreasury achieme, and the proposal to nithhold the fourth file amount of the surplus revenue, in August last, when on his way to Washlugton, to attend the extra session of Congress. He was charged with expressing his opposition stipported, frequently and freely; in the presence of many different gentlemen, and among others of Messrs Carter, Thompson and Sheppard, of the House of Representatives.

We stated, on the next day, that Mr. Calhoun had published a full and unequivocal denial of the cturges. Saturdly's mail-brought the letters of Mesers. Carter, Thompson and Shepperd corroborating the statement of the Watchman, and aubstantiating its charges. As the matter now tradiction between Mr. Calhoun and fliese three members of the House. And, unfortunately for Mr. Calboun, all the circumstances of the case are against him. His previous political course. his notorious opposition to Mr. Van Buren up to the time of the assembling of Congress, the general surprise of his friends at his sudden change of policy, all go to confirm the story of his opponents, and with that to make out a case too strong and clear, even for him, able, artful and bold tacticiens as he is, to meet and over Amidst all the devices windings and short tirms in the political course of this Senator, he ling always austained a reputation for unsullied honor, and unblemished purity of morals in private life. The result of this controversy, we fear, will sink his reputation for private honor to a level with that which he now sustains for political consistency.

MR PIRCHER

The letter of explanation, from Mr. Metcher to his constituents, the citizens of Boston, which has been looked for with so much anxiety by the friends of that gentleman, since his controversy with the committee of Ways and Meand, appeared in the Boston Atlas of Thursday lest.

We venture to say that there is not a single individual among the constituents of Mr Fletcher, unless he be one, in whose breast honesty ed by the whole pack of Loco foco presses have and candor find no abiding place, who is not proved most satisfactorily their revorence for most perfectly satisfied with the explanatory the Democracy, by echoing the foul arcusation. address of his Representative. We do not be-Nay-they have gone farther and said to leave that there is a man any where, worthy of prove the truth of the President's slander that in the name of man, be he the political friend or those places where there are no Bunks, the Ad- opponent of Mr. Fletcher, but is ready and wilministration majority remains as before. The ling to admit, after a careful examination of the facts give the lie to this assertion, as they do to whole subject matter, that he has come forth Van Buren a accusation. In the State of New from the controversy with that character which so many persons have fallen, prevents me from Nork there are Thirless Counties in which there is awarded him by the undivided voice of all session, I delievered, as you all know, a speech to discharge a duty to the community. I canto those measures which he has since warmly at a public meeting in Faneuri Hall, in which I not conclude without expressing a hope that dweit at length and with earnestness on certain all these public prints which have published the proces I had seen, during my late residence at other articles in relation to this subject, will also Washington, of what I regarded as a great and In justice to me, give an insertion to the present alarming extent of executive influence. In address, particular, I made a statement upon this subject; respecting the proceedings in the committee of ys and means, of which I had been a member In making that statement, I was actuated by no teelings of personal Bostility Towards any member of that committee. Nothing had transpired to cleate any personal unkindness, and I elt none. My attention was arrested by what I thought a violation of the fundamental prinstands, There is a direct and irreconcilable con- ciples upon which our government rests I saw in the interference of the Executive with the business of that committee, what appeared to me a dangerous emerbachment. There is no more necessary guarantee for public liberty, than the entire separation and indepedence of the different departments of government . The amon of all power in the hands of a single department, is a despotism. Nor is it material, whether this union be sanctioned by law, or be imperceptibly brought about by usage and precedent. If it in last exists, the result is the some. Liberty is destroyed. In a government like ours, the great danger is, that while the form still remains fair and attractive, the spirit may depart -that by gradual and imperceptible delays the life of fiberty may be extinguished, and nothing be left but the dead letter of diere. garded rights. Constant watchtniness and care against these dangers is the price of our tree-

> Entertaining these views, I felt myself bound to communicate to my constituents, certain facts respecting the processings in the commit tic of ways and means, which to me were alarm ing. These facts were important and propertie ue known; and I must upd alight at all times declare whatever truth seems to me to affect the public weal. No fear of reproach shall keep me > silent. The speech was mine; with the preparations of the printed report, I had nothing to do. I did not revise it. I never saw a line of it till after its appearance in print. After it was pubme substantially correct, and accord Upon a severe scrutiny, one or two inaccuracies in it have since been pointed out, which I had not before observed, and which now do not appear to me to affect ut all the material points of the speech. __

He then proceeds to point out af length the trivial inaccuracies of the printed report of his speech, which were carefully culled by Mr. Cambreleng and his associates and charged upon him. How fully is Mr Fletcher's charge of a want of deliberation and independent action on the past of the Committee sustained by the following statement of frets which cannot be con-

- The majority of the committee allege in the third place, that "they duly considered the mensares recommended in the Treasury Report ; but that not one of the tills reported, corresponded in form with any proposed by the Secretary of the Treasury, and must of them essentially dif that Mr. F. was too much occupied even to tered in principle from the suggestions of that

Touching this paragraph, it is to be observed in the first place, that the committee do not pretend to have held any deliberations which were not expressly founded upon Executive suggestions. The Trensury report, and the bills prepared by the Secretary of the Treasury, formed by their own confession, the sale subject of the consultation. They claim to have modified, but they do not pretend to have originated.

In the second place, there are certain undenable facts, which enable the country to judge what due deliberation the committee gave to the measures they undertook to consider; and how extensive were the alterations which they had pportunity or time to make in the drafts furnished to them by the Secretary of the Treasury.

It appears by the journal of the House, that he committee was appointed on Monday the 11th of September. They met for the first time the next day; and that some day reported to in this is, so the journal shows, the blifte posts pone the fourth instalment of deposites with the States. On Wednesday, they reported the t reasury hote bill ; on Thursday, the postponing the merchant's bonds; and on Pilday, the Subthe late deposite Banks. All these five bille, the great weasures of the ser-ion, and the only great Mr. Ja en C Hor, of Broken, and attacked by tions of vavenus to the associated upwards of ... casures of the remion, bills involving, quesei ded op the Alege, two hours each, as they were all hold, I believe, in the morning mevi ous to the meetings of the House.

A committee of nine members, in which any real deliberation takes place, is not a body capable of acting with much rapidity. From the shove statement any person may easily calculate how much due deliberation, the committee could have bestowed upon the matters enfrusted to-it; and how many could have been the atterations, whether in principle or form, which could have been discussed and agreed upon ; and how far the committee must have relied upon work ready prepared to its hand. And from these facts, it may also be judged, now much injustice is done the committee, by the expression in the printed report, that they approved the bills without any examination.

The letter is thus concluded

The absolute necessity of correcting at once he unfortunate meapprehensions respecting this affair, into which I unexpectedly find that going so fully into the subject at the present time as I could have desired. I trust however, with all who know me, and I cannot but hope that with all candid minds what I have now and Will prove-perfectly nativactory upon the two great points :--

First That the statements I made in Fancuil Hall I never retracted, nor thought of retract-

Secondly That thee statements were true. The propriety, under the circumstances, of my withdrawing from the Committee of Ways and Means, and of other parts of my conduct, has drawn upon me great personal hostility and Improuch. But whitever may be, the recult to misself, I shall have the consciousness that I Returning home after the close of the extra have done nothing more in this particular than

> IFrom the Boston Atlas. MR FLETCHER'S ADDRESS

We earnestly entreat the attention of our aders to the Address of our representative in Congress, the Hon. Richard Fletcher, which ppears in our paper of this morning.

The Address shows in the clearest and distinctest manner, that the impression so generally prevalent, that Mr. rietcherintended in his er's case made by a migerity of the committee, remarks in the House of Representatives on the 12th instant, to discredit the report of his Faneuil Hall speech, which originally appeared in this paper, was an impression which Mr Fletcher never designed to make. So far from such a design, he did expressly sustain the substantial accuracy of that report; and, as appears in his Address, he was so understood by the persons member of the amority (Mr Sargeant of Phil who replied to him on that occasion. Unfortu- adelpha) the previous question was applied and nately, however, for all parties, this take im pression was very extensively made. For our selves; we resisted it as long as we could, without-subjecting-ourselves, as we thought, to a charge which would have been fatal to the reputation of this Journal for honesty and truth; and which would even have cast a deep stigma upon the whole Whig party of Boston

The whole of Finday, and while there was nothing to go upon but the brief sketches in the New York papers, we resisted with vehemence the idea that Mr. Fletcher could have discredited the report of his speech. But on Saturday, when the mill brought a feel report of the re marks in the House on the 12th, remarks which seem very generally to have produced an impression (heg: were not intended to produce: which, upon examination, they will not warrant; and when, at the same time, our exchange papers began to taunt us with having manufac tured a speech which he never delivered, we tell bound to meet the charge at once with an explicit and indignant denial. The distinctions upon which Mr Pletcher-went in his explanafrom, though sofficiently just in themselves, were yet of a kind likely to be misapprehended by In a matter which touched our ansly readers veracity and honor, we telt obliged to receive as just what seemed to be a prevalent impression. Under such circumstances, we were in no state for deliberate analysis; and we could headly stop to make it, without subjecting ourselves. by our silence and delay, to the most injuryous linipulations.

We were the more confirmed in the interpretation so commonly put upon Mr. Fletcher's remarks, by two very natural mistakes as to mat-The foreman of our printing office, a most respectable man, assured us, that it was his distract impression, that the corrections in the first two or three sheets of the copy of the report of the Fancoil Hall speech, as given in this paper, were in a hand-writing with which he was not finisher, and winch he concluded to have been Mr. Fletcher s. This assurance, in connection with the circumstance, that we know, that the manuscript had been submitted to the inspection of Mr. F. (though it appears, from the tesglance over it) led us to make the assertion in our own defence, and in defence of that report, that the speech as reported in the Atlas was seen by him (Mr. Fletcher) previous to its appearance in print; and was by him partially revised and corrected." We are now perfectly sayed and We are now perfectly satisfied, and upon the must unquestionable evidence, that every correction in the copy of the report, was made by a gentleman connected with this office, (who was absent from the city at the time our extra was issued, and is still absent, though we have seen and conversed with him;) and we are perfectly satisfied, that in point of fact, Mr. Fietcher's assertion respecting this matter is most completely and literally true, that he never saw the copy, por made a single correc-tion in it, nor could he have read a line of the report, till after it appeared in print. It gave us the greatest pain to some into collision with Mr. Fletcher as to this matter of fact, and it gives us the sincerest pleasure to be able to make This rorserium

As to the pampha t'edition of the speech, we are also satisfied that it was already in type, before Mr. Fletcher knew of its intended publica tion, and was not revised by him-We are truly happy in making these explana tions, and thus to set right a most unfortunate misunderstanding. Believing, as w. did, and as many others did, that Mr. Fletcher intended

He said he would not have introduced it but tor the notorious fact that the sommittee of ways and means, being as important a committee as-fint on foreign affairs, had reported on a subject without reading or considering one of the petitions referred to them.

He referred to the publication in Mr. Fletch in which the principle was assumed that this was a proper mode of disposing of the petitions.

Mr. Adams also said that the freedom of debate was smothered in the committee of ways and means on that accusion , and in the House there was as little opportunity for discussion as ur the committee, for after one speech from a all discussion cut off.

Mr. Adams commented in severe terms on the conduct of the majority in reporting on anyquestion without considering the petitions relative to it which had been committed to them . He declared that had he acted so, he should consider himself as having betrayed hos duty to the House and the country. He supposed he would be called a hank rathan for this : but his sincerely expressed his belief on this subject

Mr Adams in the course of his remarks on the attempt of the amjority of the committee to justify their course, made know affinence & the controversy with Mr. Fletcher -The Chair called han to order on the ground of irrelevancy. Mr. Hamer, one of the committee, instantly rose, and begged that Mr A might be allowed to

The Chair repled that no member would be permitted to go on out of order.

Mr Cambreleng hoped the House would per mit the member to proceed.

Mr Adams. "For what am I directed to take my seat? I am alluding to transactions' ["Order! order!" from the Chair and all parts of the House.]-Mr Adams then left that point and proceeded to argue against the reference of the memorial to the conquittee on Foreign Affairs. He said we were now on the verge of a war with Mexa was recommended by the Executive in his nessage ! He read from the message the passage in which the President avers that both Houses of Congress had contridued on the again, by President Jackson, that the conduct of Mexico justified the United States in adopting the strongest hostile measures against her; and he demanded what act of the House warranted the Executive in making this averment !

He called upon the chairman of the foreign relations, or any other member, to answer that The Chair called Mr Adams to order on the ground af irrelevancy. Mr. Adams said he respectfully naked an answer to his question.

The Chair muisted that it was nut of order. Mr Reed of Mass, asked if it was not usual for members to put questions of an important nature to the chairmen of committeer.

Mr Adams said he would proceed in order. He said if the opestion was out of order then however it might be answered, there was a report made by the committee on foreign relations of the lest regular session, on Mexican atfairs, which did make a reply.

The Chair called Mr. Adams to order. Mr. Adams, with great vehemence "I am surely entitled to show that the report of the committee on Foreign relations, to which it is now proposed to refer the petition, is exactly opposite to the preyer of the petitioner !!-

The Chair said that would be in order. Mr. Adams said that the report referred to did coincide with the avenuent of the President; and he had only to say that there was not a sin gle act of the House which could justify it. WALUARIE SCHOOL

THE attention of School Committees, Teachers and Parents, is invited to the examination of the "JUVENILE READER," a selection of entry Reading Lessons, by a Teacher, a new edition of which revised and corrected, we have just published. It is believed that the book is one which has been very much wanted in our common schools, and indeed it was compiled at the request-of many of our best Teachers. The compiler is a gentleman of known abilities, and long experience in his pro-fession. The pieces in this book, are chiefly selected from popular works designed for youth, and it is believed, will have a health? moral influence in those schools in which it is adopted. The book comes at a very low price and has been adopted in great many Schools with decided approbation, ad having been stereotyped, is free from the danger of having any alterations, made in it, which is the greatest trouble with all school books.

Those connected with schools, or interested it any manuer, are requested to call and examine at. 17 West Market Square.
